Secret Cellar

In the hidden room of the 1835 Cellar, a curated selection of rare wines awaits - treasures not shown on this menu. Let our sommelier guide you to a choice that will make your experience unforgettable.

Our Wine List

Divided into 3 worlds:
Our World (from our land),
the Old World (Europe) and the New World (rest of the world), 1835's curatorship gathers the best options to your table. And from your table, memories that will last a lifetime.

In each of these worlds, we have conducted a meticulous selection, featuring a selection of icons with some of the finest representatives of these regions.
Many of them are highly rated by the most important critics in the world:
Robert Parker, indicated in the list as “RP”
and James Suckling, identified as “JS.”

Within each world, the wine are divided into their countries, arranged alphabetically for each country.

Our Regions

Serra Gaúcha

Serra Gaúcha is the heart of the Brazilian wine industry and where other important regions are located: Alto Feliz, Pinto Bandeira, Vale dos Vinhedos, Altos Montes and Farroupilha. Famous for its temperate climate, ideal for growing wine grapes, it is a region recognized for its diversity of high-quality wines, which stand out in national and international competitions. The setting is complemented by a rich European cultural heritage, which makes it an excellent wine tourism destination.

Alto Feliz

Alto Feliz is located in the Serra Gaúcha area, in the state of Rio Grande do Sul, known for its landscape of valleys and mountains, which provides ideal conditions for viticulture. Its temperate climate, with hot summers and cold winters - favor the cultivation of specific grape varieties and contribute to the production of high-quality wines.

The unique combination of soil, climate and altitude makes Alto Feliz a unique terroir in Brazilian wine production.

Pinto Bandeira

Pinto Bandeira, a picturesque region in Serra Gaúcha, is renowned for its winemaking heritage and designation of origin.

Known for its sparkling wines of exceptional quality, this area benefits from a unique terroir, with ideal soil and climate that contribute to the complexity and finesse of its wines. Its family-owned wineries and enchanting landscapes make Pinto Bandeira an unmissable destination for wine lovers.

Our Regions

Vale dos Vinhedos

Also located in Serra Gaúcha, Vale dos Vinhedos is a quintessential wine region in Brazil, being the first Geographical Indication for wines in the country. This valley, adorned with stunning scenery, is renowned for its production of fine wines, particularly varietals such as Merlot and sparkling wines, which embody the rich viticultural heritage passed down by Italian immigrants. The area combines tourism, history, and gastronomy, attracting visitors looking for authentic, quality winemaking experiences.

Altos Montes

Altos Montes is another wine region located in Serra Gaúcha, which mainly covers the municipalities of Flores da Cunha and Nova Pádua. A Region Renowned for its high-quality wines, bearing the hallmark of protected Geographical Indication. The varying altitudes provide an ideal microclimate for the cultivation of different grape varieties. Wines from the Altos Montes region are known for their expressive personality, structure and aging potential, reflecting the unique character of the terroir.

Farroupilha

The Farroupilha Geographical Indication (GI), located in Serra Gaúcha, is recognized for its excellence in the production of grapes and wines, especially sparkling wines. This prestigious designation shines a spotlight on the region, highlighting its distinguished viticultural practices and the unparalleled quality of its wine products, contributing to the elevated prestige of Brazilian wine on both the national and international stage.

Our Regions

Campanha

Campanha Gaúcha is a wine region in southern Brazil known for its unique terroir. Characterized by broad plains and a drier and hotter climate, compared to the rest of Rio Grande do Sul, Campanha stands out in the production of robust red wines and aromatic white wines.

The region has gained recognition for the quality of its grapes and the innovation of its producers, contributing significantly to the Brazilian wine scene.

Serra do Sudeste

Serra do Sudeste, located in Rio Grande do Sul, is a promising wine region that has gained prominence for the quality of its wines, especially robust reds, and aromatic whites. Characterized by its rugged terrain and stony soils, the region offers different climatic conditions from Serra Gaúcha, with greater thermal variation, which contributes to the expressiveness and complexity of the grapes cultivated. It is an expanding area in the Brazilian wine scene, successfully exploring new oenological possibilities.

Serra Catarinense

Serra Catarinense is recognized for its unique climatic conditions in Brazil, with harsh winters and the possibility of snow, which positively influences viticulture in the region. This microclimate favors the production of wines with high acidity and freshness, characteristics especially appreciated in varieties such as Sauvignon Blanc, Chardonnay, and Pinot Noir. The region has stood out for its high-quality sparkling wines and white and red wines, gaining national and international recognition.

682 • Miolo SesMarias 2022, Vale dos Vinhedos 1.490

Sesmarias is the perfect expression of precision between nature and artistic sensibility. Crafted from six carefully selected grape varieties, this wine embodies uniqueness and elegance. Produced through whole fermentation in new French oak barrels, both alcoholic and malolactic fermentations take place directly in the wood, in contact with the skins. The process is meticulous: the grapes are destemmed without crushing, and the pump-over is done by rolling the barrels. With no fining or filtration, Sesmarias delivers a sophisticated wine with an elegant structure, refreshing acidity, and impressive aging potential.

647 • Don Guerino Field Blend MMXX 2020, Alto Feliz 1.190

A true masterpiece that combines tradition and innovation. The Don Guerino Field Blend MMXX is crafted through the co-fermentation of five carefully selected grape varieties, using terracotta amphorae — an ancestral method that enhances the purity and expression of the grapes. This iconic wine captures the essence of the 2020 vintage, displaying an intense ruby-red color. On the nose, complex and intriguing aromas of ripe black fruits, such as plum and blackberry, intertwine with notes of spices, vanilla, and a delicate menthol touch. On the palate, it delivers a robust body with mature and elegant tannins, as well as a long and refined finish. The use of amphorae and aging in French oak barrels endow the wine with a unique personality, balancing tradition and sophistication.

254 • Valmarino e Churchill Terço 2021, Pinto Bandeira

A unique collaboration between Valmarino and Nathan J. Churchill resulted in Terço 2021, a rare jewel of Brazilian viticulture. With the meticulous selection of Cabernet Franc, Cabernet Sauvignon and Merlot grapes, each variety contributes equally to create a harmonious and complex blend, reflecting the innovative spirit of Pinto Bandeira. This wine, limited to 2,683 bottles, each meticulously hand-numbered, stands as a proud testament to the relentless pursuit of perfection. After 24 months in highly toasted American oak barrels, Terço reveals a rich aromatic palette, combining ripe fruits with seductive notes of toast, coffee, and spices. The wine's deep violet hues beckon you to embark on a unique sensory experience, with a harmonious symphony of potency and smooth tannins. Its exclusivity is guaranteed not only by limited production but also by the promise of evolution, with an estimated storage potential of 15 years.
